

I was able to share the Orange Jersey Project with the association to show support for the indigenous families in our association. We had numerous teams proudly wear their Orange Jerseys throughout the season. This project became so huge that there actually was a wait list for orange jerseys and I hope teams will continue to apply for this in the future seasons. I contacted the Sled Hockey Association in Edmonton and was in communication with them in hopes of organizing a free game for families to come watch. My hope for this was to build awareness to our players and families that anyone can play hockey regardless of disabilities. Unfortunately schedules could not align with available ice times so it has to be postponed however I do believe this could be something that could happen in the future and I look forward to coming to watch.

I worked in collaboration with our Social Media Director to bring awareness to our association. She was able to create amazing images for our social media page for Pride Month, The Orange Jersey Project, National Female Hockey Day and many other moments of equality and inclusion.

This role can only go up from here and I can not wait to see it fly. Thank you for allowing me to be a part of it and I hope you have a great summer!
